

A Reason Why

Perhaps

this is not an assumption or a conclusion the echoes of what once was- what is- of people we once were- are now- linger in the places we frequented this is the reason why we go back- not so much to remember but to feel what It was- what it is like to be that person again.