

Ethanol

I chose to write my paper on the use of corn based ethanol fuels with oil based gasoline. This topic really interested me because of the issues not only concerning the environment, but also the efficiency of our transportation. While writing this paper I learned a lot about the damage ethanol can cause and also that the production of ethanol is a huge cause of much of the pollution to our environment. I would like to do more research about the specifics of how ethanol affects motors over time.
