

That insane billboard

I see a billboard sign that says text and drive. Beneath the caption there is a place called "Wathan Funeral Home." There is also houses beneath that.

I think the billboard sign is basically an invitation to death.

The image shows a sign that says english is the only language they speak and nothing else. They have to learn it.

I think that whoever wants to come into their town is to only speak english and to learn it. I think this is kinda silly because not everyone in this world speak english and have the right to the freedom of speech. The evidence I have is the first amendment.