Prototype: Raising Awareness About: Racial Discrimination in Colleges

We are doing a project about racial discrimination in colleges. This is an important issue because some people of color do not have good opportunities for education and are more likely to not graduate from college. Sometimes they are treated badly by other students, or even teachers, who do not want them there, or make them feel unwelcome. To deal with this problem we think that there should be more training for counselors to make them better at encouraging students to graduate and for the counselors to learn to communicate better with the students of color. To raise awareness about this issue we created an piktochart infographic. If you have any questions or suggestions to help us improve our infographic please let us know. Thanks!
