

The Trees and The Axe-Remixed

My seventh grade tech project was to make a new version of an already existing story as well as making an alternate ending. I was told to put that story onto this website, and that is what I am doing.

My script was extremely fun to make, as I was able to add to an existing story and write my own. I absolutely love writing stories, this part was certainly my favorite of them all.

This is a link to my script

I also had to make storyboards, which were rather enjoyable though the website kept glitching.

Posted by Amy on May 14, 2017

<https://www.youthvoices.live/2017/05/14/the-trees-and-the-axe-remixed/>

The actual animation took the longest time and it was difficult because I didn't have access to my computer until the weekend, so it was a bad weekend. If you would like to watch it, click the green flag then press the spacebar.