

Nana's House

This porch is where my cousins and I play games or have barbecues. Everyone house looks the same on the outside, but on the inside it's very different. The mews used to look very different after the whole shooting of a two year old boy. I remember playing freeze tag, red devil, and double dutch in the mews with family and friends. The backyard was mostly for stuff my family didn't use or didn't belong in the house. My cousin and I stood on the top of the stairs singing songs and pointing at people. I miss the old days now everyone is all grown up.
